Zine

Hi! I'm Trang

I am a web and mobile app designer-to-be.

This zine is my experiment in learning typography, as well as illustration and Indesign. I hope you will enjoy every page of it.

When this zine was in the making, I moved to Vancouver for eight months and finished two semesters of the WMDD program at Langara College.

My first time living abroad was far more interesting than I had imagined. This zine is dedicated to the best friends I made along the way in my studying journey at Langara.

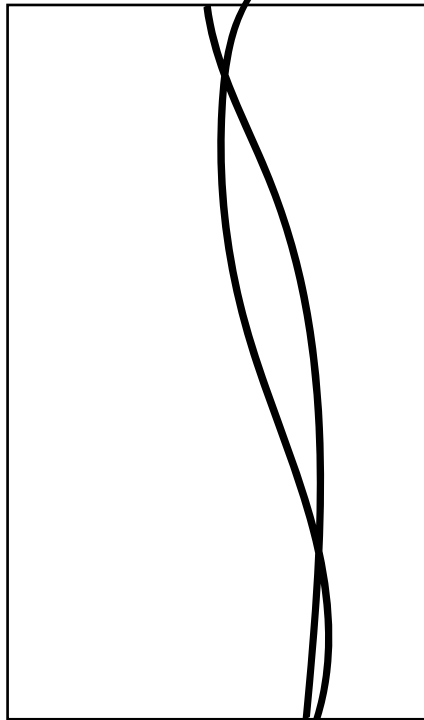

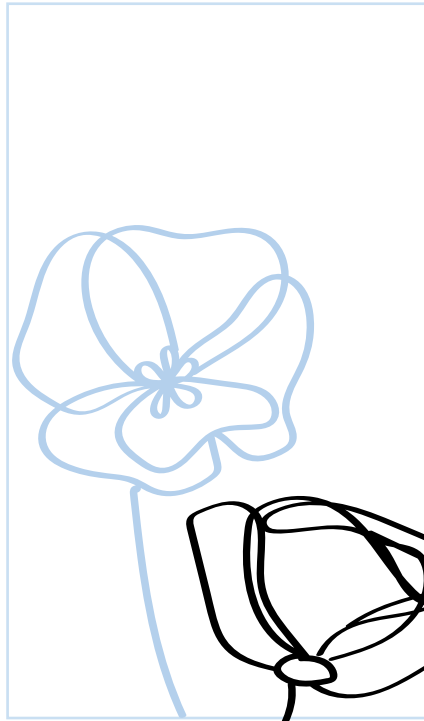

To all of my friends, you are the rainbow in my cloud.

Jason Yang

*To Jason,
my "destiny"
(JK)*

You are the first person I talked to, on our first day of class. That is because I had to borrow your pen. Then somehow we ended up in the same group for UI/UX class and got stuck together (for a group project) till now, and probably till we graduate. You have such a calm and stable energy in every scenario. With a lot of experience in UI/UX design, you have taught us so many things. I am grateful for knowing you!

To Calvin, who is not the first friend I made in Langara, but has become the most special friend I have ever had.”

I acknowledge your existence in the class since the first presentation in the UX-UX Design Course in the first semester. You have quite a good voice and energy when presenting. That was all I knew and liked about you.

You are more talkative and outgoing, therefore I think, you are the friend who connects a group of friends. That is a superpower that I do not have. There is a lot to say, but you know loving words are not my things. Let's be together for a long time.

This page is dedicated to the "crazy cat lady" Viola, who possibly loves the cats more than herself.

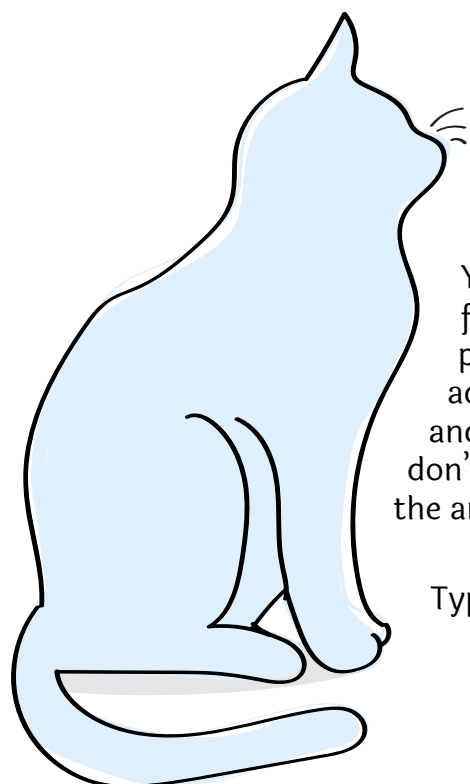

I replied to your Facebook post asking about the program in a Langara-related Facebook group, then completely forgot about it.

You are such a fun and thoughtful person who brings so much joy to everyone. I admire your strength in handling your sadness and struggle quietly, but please remember you don't have to carry it alone. Thank you for being the amazing person you are.

I remember we started talking in UI/UX class when Lu asked us to pair up and introduce each other. Honestly, to this day, writing your name correctly on the first try is still a challenge for me.

There is no doubt that you are a good developer, but I think sometimes, you are going to beat me in design if you choose to become a designer.

Cre8 team behind Favr app

I am grateful for having one of the best teams ever for an Integrated project this semester. Each member is an excellent team player. Together we created Favr, a progressive web app that connects senior citizens with volunteers, with the idea of helping to improve senior citizens' quality of life.

Developer team:

- Yosuke (Lead)
- Teru
- Cocoy
- Vin

Designer team:

- Trang (PM)
- Jason (Lead)
- Calvin
- Viola
